VIRTUAL EDITION
13 - 16 JANUARY 2021

WELCOME

Dear Colleagues & Friends,

It is our great pleasure to welcoming you to the 8th International Workshop on Lung Health - virtual edition which is held from 13 to 16 January 2021.

In a year characterized by the COVID – 19 Pandemic with most of the healthcare resources and energies concentrated in fighting the infection, the International Workshop on Lung Health remains the place where discuss the hot topics of Respiratory Medicine, sharing the latest research outcomes and the most recent successful experiences in diagnostic, treatments and management.

The “fil rouge” of the 8th edition – decided and implemented before the pandemic – is “Treatable Traits: a look forward”. This controversial theme opens up to a new prospective approach with focus on the physiopathology of the “treatable traits” declined within the different diseases and related treatments. The purpose is to use this old / new tool to explore the future of lung disease management: a look forward indeed!

We would like to express our full encouragement to all of those who have submitted their valuable works in the form of E-posters and to the young clinicians and researchers joining the Faculty for the Rising Star Session.

And a special welcome to the young researchers / clinicians who have joined this year the FuHeL (Future Health Leaders in Respiratory Medicine) programme: we count you can bring home some valuable lessons for your career development.

A final thanks to all the Endorsing Societies, national and international associations, and to all the Partners who have collaborated to make this meeting possible and rich of contents in this very challenging times.

We look forward to having you all connected, while waiting and wishing to meet you again in person!

Yours Sincerely,

Presidents & Chairmen
